health and wellness from a holistic perspective. The course covers a range of health related topics with a focus on the social determinants of health. The course is designed to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of the factors that influence health and well-being. The course will be evaluated through a combination of term evaluations, participation, and readings. The course topics correspond to the lecture topics and will be identified at the end of each lecture and on the course syllabus (located by logging in to WebCT)*. Additional readings may be posted on the course website at any time.

Students are responsible for the content of all required readings.

*Students should log in to WebCT on a regular basis using their UWO username and password for access to the HS 1001b course web page.

The University recognizes that a student's ability to meet his/her academic responsibilities may, on occasion, be impaired by medical illness. Illness may be acute (short term), or it may be chronic (long term), or chronic with acute episodes. The University further recognizes that medical situations are deeply personal and respect the need for privacy and confidentiality in these matters. However, in order to ensure fairness and consistency
