

Department of French Studies

French 3309B Special Topics in Translation:

FR 3309B a « lieu » le mardi de 16h30 à 17h30 (4 : 30 PM-5 :30 PM), et le jeudi de 15h30 à 17h30 (3 :30 PM-5 :30 PM) heure de l'Est continent d'Amérique du Nord sur zoom, accessible par votre site owl de l'université de Western. Ces heures de rendez-vous correspondent à la tombée des travaux à rendre avant chaque cours, jusqu'à ce que vous ayez complété au moins 100% de votre note (il y a beaucoup de pourcentages alternatifs ou de rattrapage pour vous permettre d'accommoder le cours en partie selon vos préférences). Il n'y a pas d'examen final.

Le 19 janvier est le dernier jour pour s'inscrire à ce cours et le 15 mars le dernier jour pour abandonner le cours sans pénalité.

5. Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

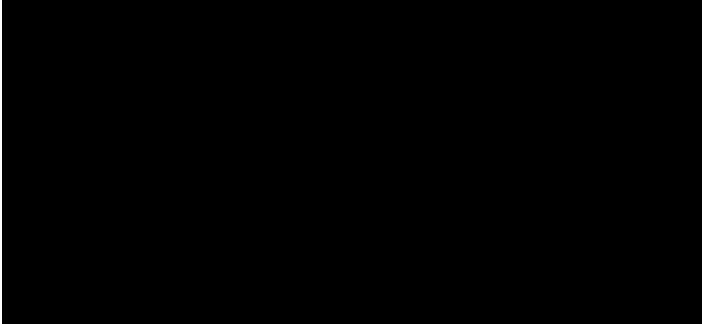

This course takes into consideration our digitalized context and the wide availability of translations and translation means available to our students, demonstrating to them that such access is but one of the departure points of the work they must provide to produce a personal translation. Each student will adapt to their own level of linguistic performance and textual analysis as they practice the gradual exercises designed to walk them through the process of textual translation as series of possibilities and choices they can easily control.

The students will be able to analyse the texts' specificities; word clusters that cannot be translated word for word; to identify the communicative message put either into words or into images and film; to analyse the semiotics of film through a socio-cultural grid that emphasizes the expectations of the viewing public, and how those expectations shape the reception of the communicated message. The approaches follow a linguistic model and the cultural socio-linguistic contexts are then the focus of consideration in a communicative model of translation.

15. Arts and Humanities Academic Policies and Statements

Copyright and Audio/Video Recording Statement

Course material produced by faculty is copyrighted and to reproduce this material for any purposes other than your own educational use contravenes Canadian Copyright Laws. You must always ask permission to record another individual and you should never share or distribute recordings. The same will be applied to you: you will not be recorded.

Rounding of Marks Statement

Across programs, we strive to maintain high standards that reflect the effort that both students and faculty put into the teaching and learning experience during this course. All students will be treated equally and evaluated based only on their actual achievement. Final grades on this course, irrespective of the number of decimal places used in marking individual assignments and tests, will be calculated to one decimal place and rounded to the nearest integer, e.g., 74.4 becomes 74, and 74.5 becomes 75. Marks WILL NOT be bumped to the next grade or GPA, e.g. a 79 will NOT be bumped up to an 80, an 84 WILL NOT be bumped up to an 85, etc. The mark attained is the mark you achieved, and the mark assigned; requests for mark "bumping" will be denied.
