

This course provides an introduction to more advanced topics in logic, and makes extensive employment of the method of truth trees, a working knowledge of which (for classical logic) is presupposed. Topics include: basic set theory, interpretations of first-order logic, second-order logic, contextual (modal) and intuitionistic propositional logic.

