S.06-14 Revision to Undergraduate Sessional Dates

The sessional dates were approved at the last meeting of Senate. However, the following dates have been revised since that time. The 2006 academic calendar will reflect these changes.

2006

Revise: From April 21 to April 29: Last day for web registration for Summer Evening and Spring/Summer Distance Studies courses.

Add: May 5: Last day to add a Spring/Summer Distance Studies course.

2007

Revise: From April 20 to May 5: Last day for web registration for Summer Evening and Spring/Summer Distance Studies courses.

Add: May 11: Last day to add a spring/summer Distance Studies course.

S.06-15 Correction to 2004-5 Report on Scholastic Offences

In the last report to Senate, the 12th item was the Registrar's Report on Scholastic Offences between November 15, 2004 and June 30, 2005. The item referred to a table of statistics in Appendix 2. On page 1, column 3 of the Report the sanction for the second item listed for the Faculty of Graduate Studies was blank. The corrected information is as follows::

Graduate Studies (3)	1 plagiarism – final exam	50% reduction in examination grade
	1 plagiarism – copying material from published article	received zero on paper

3. The process for the Constituent University includes the following elements:
 - (a) The Provost is granted permission to alter the enrolment objective for 2006-07, following consultation and approval from SUEPP, as might be appropriate given the particulars of a government funding announcement.
 - (b) Entrance requirements will be set by the Provost to achieve the enrolment request a response to an offer of admission, without any financial commitment, by mid-May. Recognizing that not all institutions would have all offers out in April, COU also retained the traditional mid-June (for 2006-07 the actual date is June 12, 2006) response date which may then include a financial commitment from the students.

As a result of the earlier response date, the timing of the application and offers process for current Ontario secondary school students will begin with offers of admission in January on a rolling basis to exceptional students, made largely on the basis of performance prior to Grade 12.

The subsequent rounds of offers will begin in March/April as soon as the initial Grade 12 marks are available. Specific minimum grades required for an offer will be set as a function of final information regarding applicant qualifications in each program.

Marks used for early offers in April 2006 will be determined by the size and quality of the applicant pool.

3. Every effort will be made to maintain a single minimum standard of admission across all programs. However, a higher standard may be necessary in some programs such as Nursing, Media, Information & Technoculture, and Media, Theory & Production to avoid exceeding program capacity.
4. As indicated in the Senate resolution of Spring of past years, consideration may be given in the admissions process to factors such as performance in program-relevant courses (e.g., mathematics and sciences in Science and Engineering), and the academic record of the secondary school. As well, consideration will be given to students based on special circumstances and extraordinary extracurricular activities and/or contributions to citizenship.
5. As was the case in past years, the period between the availability of initial application information (still not including final year, winter semester applicant grades) and the offer date, does not permit an admissions proposal that includes detailed program-specific admissions criteria to be brought to Senate for consideration before initial offers were made.
6. A final round of offers, based on complete grade information, will be made in May 2006. Criteria used for those offers will be set as a function of additional information on applicant qualifications, historical program-specific patterns of acceptance of early offers, and student responses to date, but will observe the general entrance requirements established in this recommendation.

Professor Carroll asked why the enrolment at the King's University College, both actual and projected, seems to increase dramatically. Dr. Killan explained that the projected numbers were based on a specific target, determined in discussions between King's and Western, and that actual enrolments are likely to be somewhat lower. He indicated that the projected numbers include international students.

Professor Carroll asked for the rationale behind the enrolment increase in the Executive MBA program. Actual enrolment is 178 and the 2006-07 projected enrolment is 236. Professor Robertson stated that a strong marketing campaign, a change in the location of the program and the change to a continental program format (four days per month, Thursday through Sunday) accounts for the anticipated increase in enrolment.

Referring to Exhibit III, Appendix 2, line 17, Ms. Zener asked for clarification regarding the enrolment increase in the MD program over the next five years. Professor Doerksen took the question under advisement. Dr. Davenport suggested that the increase could be related to the School's plans for expansion of medical programs through a collaboration with the University of Windsor.

Professor Toswell asked for an explanation of the enrolment fluctuations associated with the "BMedSci" program. Dr. Harris explained that enrolment in this program over the last few years has grown substantially. Discussions are ongoing with the Faculty of Science and the Schulich School of Medicine & Dentistry to determine a reasonable number of students who can be accommodated in the upper years of the program.

The question was called and CARRIED.

S.06-17

Vice-Provost's Report on Faculty Recruitment

The Vice-Provost (Academic Policy, Planning & Faculty) gave his regular report on Faculty Recruitment based on slides provided in Exhibit III, Appendices 2 and 3. New data in this report included information about the comparative presence of probationary and tenured women faculty by Faculty and School. Dr. Weedon agreed with a suggestion that it might be helpful to have the data further refined to provide information about numbers of women faculty in departments. He would explore this possibility for future reports.
