Seminar Facilitation

Studio Work (weighted 60% of the course total)

Seminar Facilitation (weighted 10%)

The design, synthesis and creation of a grad seminar. The first project will be to synthesize these ideas and to draft a grad seminar in which each of one you will take the helm and direct the course for that week. The student will experiment with inherited models and encourage a robust and engaged involvement with the seminar. Should a student wish to operate within the traditional parameters of a critique this too is fine. In this case, your ability to lead discussion, facilitate dialogue and encourage critical engagement will be assessed.

Performance and Participation (weighted 10%)

In addition to the evaluation of studio work in context of the critiques, assessment before the assignment is due and will only be considered in exceptional circumstances. Attendance is mandatory and missing 15% or more of class time can result in a failing grade.

Course Materials:

All course material will be generated through student-led discussions, field work, and instructor suggestions. Since part of the seminar is designing and facilitating seminar discussions and critiques, each student will propose particular readings and or other supplementary materials.

Visual Arts Department Policies

Prerequisite Checking:

You are responsible for ensuring that you have successfully completed all course prerequisites and that you have not taken an antirequisite course. Lack of prerequisites may not be used as basis of appeal. If you are not eligible for a course, you may be removed from it at any time, and you will receive no adjustment to your fees. These decisions cannot be appealed.

Plagiarism:

Plagiarism, which may be defined as “The act or an instance of copying or stealing another’s words or ideas and attributing them as one’s own,” will not be tolerated. (Citation excerpted from Black’s Law Dictionary, 1999, 7th ed., p. 1170). This includes presenting the visual or aural work of another creator as your own. Visual or Aural Plagiarism may involve both hand-based media such as drawing, painting, printmaking and sculpture, as well as digital media such as photography, video and sound. It includes work subsequently manipulated or transferred between different media, as well as self-plagiarism – work submitted for assignments previously produced and graded for another course. Similar to textual plagiarism, all student work involving the visual or aural work of others must be appropriately cited/identified whether in print or orally. Failure to do so will lead to similar academic penalties as those identified in Western’s Academic Calendar.

Student Conduct:

All students will conduct themselves in a manner that will be consistent with the maturity and academic integrity expected of university students. Student conduct shall be consistent with the general laws of the community and with University regulations. Students shall show regard and respect for the rights, safety, and property of all members of the University community and are expected to act in a responsible manner within the University and the community at large.

When an academic record is sealed, the student will not be able to: a) view grades; b) register in future courses; c) receive transcripts or a degree diploma; d) obtain admission or readmission.

The above prohibitions shall be in force until such time as indebtedness to the University, including payment of fee for removal of the seal, has been cleared to the satisfaction of the University.
